Wrekin Windows is one in a million

Wrekin Windows, specialist supplier of low-maintenance, PVC-U windows and doors to the social housing sector, is celebrating after completing its one-millionth installation.

And to mark the occasion properly, John Williams from Wrekin Windows surprised the lucky millionth installation customer, Mrs Mulligan from Manchester, with a fantastic bouquet of flowers after the work had been completed.

For more than 20 years, Wrekin has maintained a reliable, long-term relationship with the social housing sector by viewing its customers, component suppliers and installers as partners and working together with the same goal in mind - to provide decent homes for everyone.

John Williams, sales and marketing manager, Wrekin Windows said: "We are thrilled to be celebrating our one-millionth installation and would like to thank everyone in the team for working so hard to sustain excellent working relationships and high standards of customer service.

"Through innovative thinking, collaborative design and continued product development, we have been able to improve our product and service quality and increase overall efficiency."

Wrekin provides a full range of products in varied styles and finishes to suit virtually any project. These products are easy to maintain and energy-efficient, also providing homeowners with optimum home security.

John said: "Because we use the unique fully integrated system, we are able to fit the same sashes, beads, ancillaries and hardware regardless of style or finish - which makes the product specification and maintenance much easier.

"Choice is particularly important and so we offer a complete range of low-maintenance quality assured windows, panelled and glazed entrance doors and in-line sliding patio doors with different pane and finish options.

"Security is also a key concern to tenants and our four point hook lock and anti-jacking system ensures that doors cannot be lifted off from the outside for optimum crime prevention."

With full accreditations, Wrekin Windows operates a stringent quality management system and ensures all its products fully comply with the very latest industry standards and building regulations.

John added: "Our factory has a large capacity to fabricate windows and doors which are then safely delivered on-site to the client's individual programme. We also provide a full installation service by our specialist partners as well as technical advice on product design, specification and product installation.

"Through continuous investment in new machinery and computerised production to improve productivity and quality, Wrekin continues to meet the ever-changing needs of the social housing sector."

As part of its wider commitment to greener issues, Wrekin Windows has also invested in a unique post-consumer recycling facility, supporting the company's ambitions to minimise its environmental impact.
